Overview

Doctors, hospitals, and healthcare providers need an attorney with direct experience and in-depth knowledge when facing a malpractice, privacy, licensing, or credentialing matter. With 14 years of experience representing clients in civil litigation and appellate matters in Maryland and Washington, D.C., Mr. Rose is that attorney.

As an Associate in the Health Law Practice Group, Trevor concentrates his practice on defending doctors, hospitals, and health care providers in malpractice, privacy, licensing, and credentialing matters.

Trevor's litigation experience includes first chair jury trial work in numerous civil cases and representing clients in a variety of matters including medical malpractice, personal injury, premises liability, and worker's compensation claims.

Trevor began his legal career working as a law clerk for the Honorable C. Philip Nichols, Jr. of the Circuit Court for Prince George's County, Maryland. He gained valuable experience assisting Judge Nichols with drafting opinions, orders, and legal memoranda in a wide range of cases before the court.

Outside of the office, Trevor enjoys spending time with his family, including attending his children's sports games and cub scouts meetings.
