Business Law

Overview

Jackson & Campbell, P.C.'s Business Law Practice Group counsels a range of clients from high net worth U.S. and foreign individuals to startups to more mature companies dealing with growth and successor issues. Our attorneys represent businesses, trade, and professional associations; tax-exempt public charities and private foundations; and government contractors throughout the Washington region. We advise clients on a variety of transactions from the structuring and implementation of deals to corporate governance, employment contract, and other general corporate matters.

We are problem solvers. We keep your transactions on pace and on budget. We handle the complex legal legwork, clarify the legal risks, and advise you on options that fit you, so you can make the best decision for your company.

CORPORATE AND BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS

Our lawyers handle an assortment of domestic and international transactions, including business formation, mergers and acquisitions, commercial real estate transactions, joint ventures, bringing companies to market, buyouts, and strategic partnerships. We also routinely assist our clients in financing transactions, including the negotiation of debt and equity financing, creative financing, and equipment leasing agreements. Our attorneys have also assisted numerous business clients in negotiating hundreds of executive employment, non-compete, and severance agreements.

NON-PROFIT ENTITIES

Non-profits rely on us to aid with federal and state tax planning, 501(c) filings, and compliance. We also have a unique expertise in advising non-profits on real estate transactions. We have represented both the buyers and sellers in multi-million dollar acquisitions and non-profits, in the sale of their real estate,
